Two Die In Columbiana Mine Accident Friday

Pitsy Coal Co. Mishap
Kills Two Caught In Crush Of Rock, Slate

By WARREN GERBER

Two men were crushed and smothered to death at 1:10 p. m. Friday when a cave-in at the Pitsy Coal Co. mine, two miles north of Columbiana, trapped them under a thick sheet of rock and slate.

Carl Clemens, 24, of R. D. 4, Lisbon, was soon found and brought to the surface at 1:55 p. m. John W. Greier, 48, of the Salem-Leetonia road was not found until two hours later and arrived at the mouth of the mine at 4:15 p. m. The slide which crushed the men was approximately 20 inches thick and more than 18 feet long, according to rescuers. It had covered up the mechanical cutter with which the men had been working.

Father Led Rescue Attempts

Dan Clemens, of Kensington, Carl's father and mine foreman, led the search for his son and long time friend Charles Guy and Clarence Billett of Youngstown, were uninjured. The elder Clemens was near the mine entrance, sharpening coal bits, at the time of the rock slide.

On Dec. 16, 1932, he was married to Anna Wheringer at Scottsburg, Ind. She survives with four sons, Gary, Lee and Eugene Edward, at home, and John, Jr., Pendleton, Ind., and two daughters, Mrs. Dale Beatty of Youngstown and Mrs. Merion Kilbreath of R. D. 3, Salem, and three grandchildren; one brother, James A., of North Benton and four sisters, Mrs. Ervin Brown of R. D. 5, Salem; Mrs. Elmer Lucas and Mrs. Edith Hanlin of Beloit and Mrs. Carl Fishel of R. D. 1, Canfield.

Funeral services at 2 p. m. Monday will be held at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home, in charge of Rev. G. D. Keister, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran church. Burial will be in Greenford cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday evening.

Cause Unknown
Miners had been blasting the coal seam earlier in the day, but Clemens, Sr., and Inspector Lodwick could give no immediate cause for the cave-in. The blast was made about an hour before the slide which killed the two men.

Scene of the accident was approximately 800 feet down the sloping shaft and 120 feet from the surface. The dead were brought to the surface in small coal cars and transferred to a waiting ambulance. They were taken to Youngstown South Side hospital where they were officially pronounced dead.

Clemens is survived by his wife. They have no children. He is a veteran of World War II, having served almost four years in the Navy. The Clemens home is near Guilford lake.

Besides the elder Clemens directing rescue work, other relatives of the dead men were waiting at the mouth of the mine and indicated they wanted to help in the search. One relative stated that Greier's father had worked in another mine shaft, a few hundred yards from the Pitsy shaft, 25 years ago.

Paul Langley, Mahoning county sheriff, and state highway patrolmen arrived on the scene of the accident soon after it was reported. It was first believed no others were trapped after Clemens' body was discovered by rescue workers.

Greier, son of William J. and Mary Eckley Greier, was born

March 21, 1903, in Amsterdam. He had lived in this vicinity seven years, coming here from Bristow, Ind. He was a member of the Harlem Springs Methodist church and the Eagles lodge of Leetonia.

On Dec. 16, 1932, he was married to Anna Wheringer at Scottsburg, Ind. She survives with four sons, Gary, Lee and Eugene Edward, at home, and John, Jr., Pendleton, Ind., and two daughters, Mrs. Dale Beatty of Youngstown and Mrs. Merion Kilbreath of R. D. 3, Salem, and three grandchildren; one brother, James A., of North Benton and four sisters, Mrs. Ervin Brown of R. Strike Threatens
Ohio Edison Co.
Sunday Evening

AKRON, Sept. 24—(AP)—Negotiators try again to settle a labor-management dispute at the Ohio Edison Co.

If they fail, a strike can be called at 6 p. m. tomorrow that would shut off electric power and light over a large section of northeastern Ohio.

The CIO-Utilities workers union already is laying plans for the strike. Its newly formed Ohio Edison council decided to ring all offices of the plants with pickets if it is called.

Ohio Edison serves Akron, Youngstown, Kent, Ravenna, Medina, Barberton, Cuyahoga Falls, Salem, Lisbon, Struthers and Andover.

The union originally asked for a wage increase of 20 cents an hour and continuance of a 40-hour week on a Monday-Thursday-Friday schedule.

Now, the raise request has been reduced to five cents, and the dispute also covers pensions, sick leave, vacations and work schedules. Neither the company nor the union has released a wage average.

The discussions are being conducted by federal mediators. All say they will talk until the 6 p. m. Sunday strike deadline, if necessary.

One Man Hurt Here
In Auto Accident

One person was injured and three cars were damaged during the past 24 hours on city streets, police reported today.

John Bilstan was injured at 2:25 p. m. Friday when the car in which he was a passenger left the road while traveling north on N. Ellsworth ave., hurdled a ditch and struck a tree.

Bilstan was taken to Central Clinic, Adam J. Cibula, of R. D. 4, Salem, was the driver of the car, which was demolished.

A car driven by Richard Carlisle of R. D. 2, Lisbon, and a truck operated by William J. Pitts, of 478 Jennings ave., collided on E. State st. at 5:20 p. m. Friday.

Car Hits Truck

Carlisle told police he was going west on E. State st. when Potts' car, which had been parked on the north side of street headed west, pulled into the side of his truck. He said he stopped as soon as his truck hit the car.

The left front fender of the car was slightly damaged.

A taxi driven by Leonard Feezel of Box 197, Salem, and a car driven by Edward Shive of 1027 Franklin st. collided at the intersection of Pershing st. and S. Ellsworth ave. at 3:15 p. m. Friday. The taxi is owned by the Beery Cab Co.

Shive reported to police he was going south on S. Ellsworth ave. and started to turn right when the light turned green. He said the taxi tried to pass him on the right and hit his car while he was turning onto Pershing st.

No damage was reported to the taxi, but the left rear fender, the fender skirt, and paint was scraped off both right doors of Shive's car. No one was injured.

Lupica Due Down
From Pole Sunday

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24—(AP)—Charley Lupica took a last view of his surroundings today, then waited for the moving man to take him and his flag pole to Cleveland stadium.

The plans were to haul Charley atop his pole and transplant him at the ball yard. Tomorrow, he will come down and place his feet on the ground for the first time since May 31.

In deference to his loyalty to the Indians, who kept him up there all that time because they could not reach first place, his feet will land on home plate.

Charley hates to see that comfortable pole perch go to waste.

"Anybody lookin' for a place to live? Tell 'em to see Charley Lupica," he said.

Henderson Believes U. S.
Defense System Is Due

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 24—(AP)—The mayor of Youngstown believes a national civilian defense system should be re-established at once.

Mayor Charles P. Henderson said yesterday—after hearing of President Truman's announcement that Russia had set off an atomic explosion—that he will ask council Monday to send a resolution to Washington to that effect.

Said the mayor: "Certainly there is unquestioned necessity now for proceeding faster with defense measures, particularly in highly industrial areas such as Youngstown, which would be among the first cities hit in such an attack."

"Some of the old civilian defense equipment from World War II is still left around town and may be dragged out."

NO CAUSE FOR PANIC AROUSED
BY BOMB NEWS

Editorials Throughout U.S.
Seem Calm, But Need
For Action Aired

By The Associated Press

Many newspapers view the announcement that Russia has set off an atomic explosion as no cause for panic—but a compelling reason for America to reassess its armed might.

Most agree that this latest development in the atomic race is a forceful reason for working immediately toward effective international control of atomic energy.

The New York daily Mirror said editorially that President Truman's announcement "is nothing to say 'so what?' about. It is also nothing to lose sleep over. The so-called secrets of atom-busting were known throughout the scientific world."

"Soviet Russia being what she is," The Mirror added, "we shall have to go on intensifying our production and research, and stockpiling the bomb's essentials. But there is no reason for fear or panic."

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said the news "should put an end to our swaggering as well as to our complacency." The newspaper added that "we now have a compelling new incentive to a greater effort toward effective control of atomic energy."

No Occasion for Hysteria

The Minneapolis Tribune said it is "No occasion for hysteria in this country. The Soviet achievement emphasizes the need for truly effective and enforceable international control."

The Miami (Fla.) Daily News declared "the western world needs more than ever to continue its efforts to control the atom bomb. The Russians may be no more tractable with possession of the bomb."

The Portland (Me.) Press Herald: The news "may well pull us together a little out of our domestic confusions and distractions. For it was never more certain than now that we must all hang together, or we may all hang separately."

Washington Post: "The knowledge that our monopoly has ended is no cause for panic. The mere fact of one explosion does not necessarily mean, of course, that the Russians have the capacity to make bombs in quantity."

Washington Times-Herald: "Most military authorities are agreed that we can best prevent an atomic war by keeping the rest of the world always aware that for the first bomb dropped on our territory we can and will seek instant retaliation with 100 or more."

May Escape Feeling

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "It is conceivable that Russia, with its own atom bomb, may escape its psychopathic feeling that the rest of the world is ganging up to overthrow and demolish the Soviet state. In such a case it might ease the shackles of its obduracy."

Hawley Misses Dedication
Of Building He Planned

A veteran member of The Salem News family was conspicuously absent when dedication exercises were held in the News' new building today.

But, it was far from the desire of Ralph W. Hawley that he be unable to attend. An illness which has confined him to City hospital prevented him from sharing with other News employees the joy of welcoming the public to a building which he had so prominent a part in planning.

As publisher for the late Louis H. Brush, Mr. Hawley was instrumental in the planning of the modern News building which has been acclaimed by visiting newspaper men, not only for its modern architecture, but for the systematic way the various departments are linked toward the ultimate goal of publication.

He had counted so much on being present at today's festivities.

News employees sent this message to him this morning: "We, the staff of The Salem News, feel deeply honored to have been privileged to participate in the dedication of the new home of The Salem News."

"It is deeply regretted by all of us that you, to whom we have sought and generously received guidance and counsel and who has spent long hours of toil in making our new home possible, could not be with us on this memorable occasion."

"May your recovery be speedy, that you may soon be with us again."

High Officials
Confident Russia
Can't Gain Edge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—The United States still holds a vast lead over Russia in the field of atomic weapons and in all probability will never lose it, top American officials said today.

"They'll never catch up with us," said one high security official in the wake of President Truman's disclosure yesterday that there has been an atomic explosion in Russia.

While it was calmly worded, the President's statement itself exploded throughout the western world with terrific impact.

It brought urgent—and hopeful—new demand from lawmakers, scientists, diplomats and others for effective international atom controls—a demand which merely echoed Truman's own words.

It caused a general withering of congressional opposition to sharing American atomic secrets with Britain and Canada.

And it raised questions enough to keep the world guessing for months.

How did the news reach this country? One official who knew said "hundreds of persons" and numerous agencies were involved. Another said it was a "miracle of intelligence."

But whether it involved spies, ground equipment, or airborne radiation-detecting instruments—or all three—no one would say for sure.

Was it definitely an atomic bomb, or just an accidental explosion? A bomb, absolutely, experts said—and, apparently, the Soviets' first successful one.

But when and where the explosion occurred, how efficient the Russian bomb may be, and what effect it might have on future relations between the east and the west—those questions and dozens of others went unanswered except for hints and guesses.

The President said the explosion occurred "in recent weeks."

Scientists in Sweden reported picking up an earth tremor Sept. 14 which they said might have been an A-bomb-blast in Siberia. But The New York Daily News said in a Rome dispatch that western officials have known about the Russian bomb for at least nine weeks.

An American official hinted that Truman knew about it for several days, at least.

Also from Rome, Pietro Nenni, pro-Communist leader of the Italian Socialist party, said the bomb was touched off in eastern Siberia. Nenni was just back from a trip to Moscow.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky addressed the United Nations Assembly in New York following Truman's announcement and never once mentioned the bomb. He called for peace among the big five powers—a proposal western diplomats viewed skeptically coming from Russia.

No Immediate Threat
No one, however, seemed to believe that the Soviet success in ferreting out the A-bomb secret posed any immediate threat to world peace.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the United States chiefs of staff, spent yesterday afternoon playing golf. The nation's top military man advised: "The calmer the American people take this matter the better. We have anticipated it for four years and it calls for no change in our basic defense plan."

The association of American scientists pointed out that Russia needs at least two years to develop a sizeable A-bomb stockpile, while the United States has been hard at it since 1945 and has no intention of letting up.

"This new development probably will have no effect on Russia's capacity to wage war," the scientists said.

That view was widely held in congress too—although there was some alarm.

Wants Capitol Moved
Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) greeted the news with the prompt suggestion that plans be drafted immediately for moving the capitol to Kentucky. Rep. Cunningham (R-Iowa) said, "it means that World War III is that much closer."

It Had To Happen

President Truman's announcement that this government believes the Soviet Union has been the site of an atomic explosion in recent weeks is far short of being a surprise.

If the Russian explosion was a planned test of an atomic bomb, that had been expected. Even if it was an accident instead of a planned atomic explosion, that too can be called a part of America's expectation. This country has managed to avert atomic accidents so far but accidents are potential in the nature of atomic fission.

There never has been any reason to believe the United States would maintain a monopoly of the secret. Its only valid claim to monopoly was the process of releasing atomic energy in the form of a sudden explosion—and that claim was destined to be valid for only a limited time.

If Russian scientists, spurred by their government to overtake the United States in knowledge of atomic explosions, have managed to do it in 1949, that means only that they have made more rapid progress than they were expected to make. It had to happen sometime.

The probability that it has happened now revives the question which was in all minds a little more than four years ago, after the first atomic bombs were used against the Japanese, to hasten the end of World War II.

Will human beings be intelligent enough to deal with a force which could be used for their destruction?

It is no longer a question of the intelligence of the relatively small group of human beings called Americans. It never was, in truth, because the basic work in atomic fission was done by human beings of many nationalities. Parallel work was being done at the same time by others under the auspices of other governments. The problem of atomic energy has been shared by all mankind ever since the first physicist dreamed of learning how to release it.

But the dream was finally to be realized at the crisis of a great war. Thus it became automatically an instrument of nationalism; its military use overshadowed its other uses. And now the anti-climax of the dream's realization—possession of the secret by more than one nation—has occurred when relations between the United States and the Soviet Union are strained. Again, military potency overshadows everything else.

Americans lack confidence in the intentions of the Soviet Union. There is no group of human beings anywhere who have confidence in it. The Soviet government has done almost everything imaginable to destroy confidence in its tolerance of other governments and their citizens. That's why its ultimate possession of the secret of making atomic bombs has been dreaded. It's why Mr. Truman's announcement that it may now possess the secret is momentous news in every country on earth.

The world is not prepared to deal with so potent a weapon as nuclear fission, even had the weapon continued to be a monopoly of the United States. It is not equipped with sufficient moral balance to insure its survival. There is only one shred of solace, and on that shred hangs history.

The addition of great responsibility for human survival may strengthen the moral fiber of those who bear the responsibility. Americans may only hope at this time that if their international neighbors, the Russians, now share responsibility for nuclear fission they will be at least as humble in bearing it as the most thoughtful and mature minds in this country have tried to be.

Spiritual Man

Wallace F. Bennett, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, is saying something that has been neglected too long by men responsible for modern industrial policy.

He told the industrial relations clinic of the Associated Industries of Cleveland recently that industry had evaded responsibility for the spiritual welfare of its workers. "Men and women are more interested in making something of their lives than in just making gadgets for us," he declared.

This was potent advice in a clinic on industrial relations. Employers in the United States are heard to wonder sometimes why their employees still are not contented with their lot, though well paid, well housed and reasonably well protected against misfortune. In other words, with the bulk of their material wants satisfied, why aren't wage earners satisfied and contented? What makes them restless and subject to suggestions of industrial warfare? What is the mass psychology which makes people dissatisfied even though their material wants have been cared for?

It hasn't been easy to understand that materialism, the basic doctrine of the Marxists, is a barren philosophy for Americans, who place high value on the dignity of individuals. And certainly it hasn't been easy to tell employers that their responsibility in the American relationship between management and workers goes further than that of political herdsmen who dream of a trouble-free society in which human beings can be exploited for the state like dairy cattle. Human beings have imagination. They have individual dignity, they have spirituality. They need more than fodder and shelter to satisfy their longing for a sense of usefulness.

Mr. Bennett, owner of a 225-employee paint and varnish factory in Salt Lake City, warns that the American system requires more than materialism for its survival. The world's highest standard of material existence isn't enough, unless accompanied by a rising standard of spiritual existence. A share in the boss's confidence, in other words, is just as important as a share of the company's profits.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, September 25

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A POWERFUL stimulus to sudden, large and precipitate action could prove highly detrimental to cherished hopes and wishes. A quick and brilliant coup may be thrilling and dramatic but if misdirected, spectacular and irrational could "come a cropper," and bring a train of false hopes. The danger is from a yen to plunge into activities in which emotions and demanding feelings hold sway rather than prudent, conservative and studied consequences.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find their creative urges for expression in new, strange and exciting pastures or in irresistible drive, with desire for adventure, romance or revolutionary experiences, and while the prospect is fortunate if rationalized and prudently directed, if extravagant, enthusiastic or without the bounds of conventional good taste and sound judgment, could react disastrously.

A child born on this day may be impetuous, indomitable and ready to stake it all for thrills or unique performance.

For Monday, September 26

MONDAY'S astrological forecast stresses the importance of social ecclesiastical and Sabbath day matters in which it may be to the advantage to keep calm grip on emotions, activities and a determination to preserve happy and cooperative relations rather than tempestuous, rash and forceful measures, both at home and abroad. Elders, their comfort and interests should be graciously considered.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, have an encouraging set of circumstances to start them off on serious, long-range and enduring objectives, solid and meriting earnest development and studied effort. Personal, family or property interests call for wise consideration rather than any show of haste, reckless or impetuous moves. It is advised that harmony, kindly consideration, especially in connection with affairs of elderly persons of institutions, be given due regard for their ultimate benefit.

A child born on this day, while being serious, studious and farseeing, may be carried to extremes by overwrought feelings. Its home life and contacts may amend this.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESON

MEASLES, whooping cough, and other contagious diseases of childhood are more treacherous than the average parent realizes. Besides the obvious damage they do at the time of the acute attack, they may also leave behind them hidden changes in the brain, which show up only months or years later in the form of emotional disturbances and mental defects.

Measles may cause actual inflammation of the brain or encephalitis. Fortunately, this occurs in only about one out of 200 cases. During such an attack of encephalitis there may be double vision, difficulty in swallowing, inability to empty the bladder, and mental disturbances.

These cases of encephalitis are fatal in about one out of ten instances, and leave permanent damage to the nervous system in about two-thirds of the others. It is thought that whooping cough may be a factor in many cases of mental backwardness. Changes in the brain are probable.

Barkley To Get $450 Gold Medal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — (AP)—If Vice President Barkley ever melts down that $2,500 gold medal Congress voted to give him, he will find it is worth only about $450.

It will come in a $10 leather case. The manufacturing cost will be $540. The rest of the money, $1,500, will go to the sculpture who designed the medal.

A Senate appropriations subcommittee developed these facts at a hearing on the proposed expenditure.

Minutes of the hearing were released today. Congress voted the medal August 12 in recognition of Barkley's "distinguished public service and outstanding contributions to general welfare." The bill before the appropriations committee provides the money to pay for the medal.

Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint said the medal would take at least 13 ounces of gold "if it has any relief whatsoever." This, he said, will be more gold than in the medal awarded General George C. Marshall (11.983 ounces), but less than the one for General John J. Pershing (15.355 ounces).

Council Moves To Better Ohio Railroad Crossings

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24—The Ohio Safety council has taken steps to bring about better railroad crossing safety.

At the close of the council's annual conference yesterday, its board of control authorized R. R. Sabens, vice president in charge of its railroad section, to organize a committee to work with the state highway department and enforcement agencies for this purpose. Sabens is safety agent for the Nickel Plate railroad in Cleveland.

The board of control also appointed a finance committee. It will be headed by H. S. Nonne-man of Dayton, who is chairman of the board of the Ohio Safety council. Other members of the committee are John Besemeyer of Cincinnati, J. C. Hiestand and Harry Pontius of Columbus, and Fred Hillgruber of Dayton.

Harvest Bumper Crop

BUC Has 350 Pickers Busy In Apples Orchards Here

With the above-normal apple harvest in Columbiana County swinging into high gear, the picker needs of all orchardists have been met to date, according to Arthur S. Johnston, manager of the local office of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

"We are filling all orders currently," said Johnston, whose staff has been busy for the past several weeks making preparations to meet an expected emergency need of several hundred pickers, due to the bumper apple crop this year.

Builds Up Worker List
Johnston's office sent out more than 6,000 letters to prospective local workers, canvassed all Unemployed worker files, advertised and appealed through newspapers for all local people capable and willing to pick apples to list their names at his office. More than 600 workers responded to these appeals several weeks before the apple harvest began.

With the advance list as a backlog, more than 350 workers have already been sent to orchardists and more are being referred daily. One hundred and sixty workers were sent to jobs the first four days of the week. There are no unfilled orders in the office, although new requests for workers are being received hourly.

"We're not over a possible emergency yet," Johnston added, but he confidently believes that, barring unusual vagaries of weather, such as hail or high winds, the local picker supply will be ample to keep up with all orchardists' needs.

Other BUC Offices Alerted
All local offices of the B. U. C. in agricultural sections of the state and those adjacent to Salem have been apprised of probable picker needs. Offices at East Liverpool, Alliance, Canton and Youngstown are advising work applicants to contact the Salem office.

Offices in northwestern Ohio peach and vegetable areas where the harvest is drawing to a close, are also making referrals of agricultural workers to the Salem office.

"We have told these offices to continue to send good workers to us until we advise them that all chances of an emergency have passed," Johnston said. "We also have sources for crews of agricultural workers from slightly farther distances which could be brought into Salem should it become necessary, but we want to place capable local and Ohio people first," Johnston added.

Cooperation Needed
Difficulties have been encountered by the reluctance of some orchardists to arrange for transportation from Salem or surrounding towns to the orchard, he explained.

Recruitment of workers could be more readily successful if growers would cooperate wherever possible to pick up workers at central points, or in the case of workers to be housed at the orchard, if the employer would arrange to transport the worker to the job, Johnston said. At times workers referred by the office have had difficulty in locating the orchard which results in delays and loss of workers. Staff members of the local office have, in several instances, delivered workers to orchards, but even with a staff which has been augmented by several more persons to handle recruitment, the office cannot make a regular practice of it, he added.

Any residents of Columbiana and Mahoning Counties interested in apple picking whose name is not yet listed with the local office should apply at the office at once. Orchardists who now need or will need help should post their needs with the office. The address is 616 E. State st., telephone 4648.

Employer orders to date are filled on a daily basis, but to insure the best service with careful selection of pickers, it would be helpful to have employers orders a few days in advance of actual need.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)— There's a stranger in the land today, and the stranger is—Autumn.

Welcome, stranger! He came to our town exactly at 4:04:06 o'clock (EST) this morning, an hour after the last saloon closed.

The only one who saw him arrive was the milkman, as our official greeter, Grover Whalen, rarely has his orange juice ready—let alone a speech—so early in the day.

But everyone knew autumn was here. The air felt like a raise in salary.

The year wears four faces, and autumn is the finest. Everybody likes it except maybe politicians who have to run for re-election and plead that now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party.

Man and nature go on a last rampage before the deep freeze sets in. The robin tests its feathers for the long flight south, and old folks begin thumbing Florida resort folders.

The farmers' crop is in, and now he has time to write letters to his congressman. The fisherman casts a final fly, the hunter oils his gun. And the wary duck along the Canadian border quacks, "oh, hell, oh hell, oh hell," knowing he is the target of tomorrow.

At night the moon is a yellow madness. The fox barks on the hill, the lonesome moose shakes his antlers and bellows in the woods for a tall dark lady—any tall dark lady on four legs. The rabbits in the grass review their multiplication tables. Ain't nature grand?

The maple turns again into a scarlet lass, blushing to see the staid oak shed its leaves and stand around in its shaggy skeleton. The squirrel begins his annual thrift, and wonders if the rest of the world is nuts.

This is the time for retired bachelor railroad men to beware, for every widow has a mellow eye. She doesn't want to bake pies just for herself through another long cold winter.

Oh, it's a wonderful season—fall is. The pigskins float through the air before the last baseball has been knocked over the fence. Topcoats replace sports jackets in the department store windows. The movies quit bragging it's 20 degrees cooler inside, and start showing "A" pictures again. It's a desperate measure to lure customers indoors.

The stage comes to life, the city wears a fresh glitter, and all girls are beautiful to someone. Vacation tans fade, but there's a bright new look in every eye.

People shed summer weariness like a snake dropping a treadbare skin.

Autumn is a fine thing everywhere. It's spring with a wiser look, treasured because it passes so soon. The boss smileth, the workman giveth a full dayth's—I mean day's—toil and cometh home at evenfall to a cheerful wife. She forgetteth to find fault.

Yes, it's a grand time, Autumn—too late for hay fever, too early for pneumonia. It's a flood in the blood, a high tide measured by the turning sun.

There's no tax on it, kid, so spend it while you have it. No autumn lasts forever, and there is no real guarantee it will ever come again.

Expresses Hope For Adding Of Jerusalem

TEL AVIV, Israel, Sept. 24—Israeli Premier David Ben Gurion began Jewish New Year 5710 Friday with the expressed hope that Jerusalem soon will be recognized as part of the young nation he heads.

Ben Gurion voiced this hope in a New Year's eve message to his people. His government has been resisting proposals that the Holy City be internationalized under United Nations control.

"There are peoples," said Ben Gurion, "opposing the dearest right of the Jewish people to return to their homeland and there are people who attempt to deprive Israel of its very heart, the eternal city."

The First Bank, 1846

Among the prized possessions of several Salem families are old bank notes and other documents, issued by the Farmers Bank during the first few years after its founding in 1846. The bank, now a National Bank and one of the half-dozen oldest in Ohio, aided materially in the growth and development of agriculture, business and industry of the little village of some 1,000 people. Seventeen years after the founding of the Farmers, the First National Bank was incorporated under the then brand new National Banking Act, giving Salem two of the oldest banks in continuous existence in Ohio. Salem folks have long been aware of the advantage of putting their money to work through their banks, and Salem banks have always played a vital part in important business and civic developments of the area.

People who talk as though American Capitalism were something evil, don't seem to realize that nine out of every ten Americans are Capitalists. Everybody with a life insurance policy, a bank account, or an equity in a home or car is a Capitalist. American Capitalism has helped workers earn more and have more than any other people in history. We already have what other systems only promise.

LET'S EAT!

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Apples are on the August list of plentiful foods, prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. And the new book "Favorite Desserts by Chicago Home Economists" gives two mouth-watering hints on the use of apples in pudding.

Old-Fashioned Apple Cake (15 servings)

Shortcake Dough: One and three-quarters cup sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons lard, 9 tablespoons cream, 1 egg yolk.

Sift together dry ingredients. Add butter and lard to flour mixture. Mix gently until a fine crumb is obtained. Add cream to slightly beaten egg yolk and mix well. Add liquids to flour mixture and mix lightly. Knead until it holds together well.

Filling: Three quarts apples, 3/4-inch slices, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 4 tablespoons butter.

Line an oblong cake pan with shortcake dough rolled 1/4 inch thick, so the dough comes up half way on sides of pan. Press firmly. Place a layer of sliced apples (1 1/2 quarts) evenly in rows on the dough. Sprinkle with half the amount of sugar and flour mixture and part of the cinnamon. Dot with half of the butter. Make a second layer with remainder of apples, sprinkle with sugar, flour and cinnamon.

Trim dough from top of pan, so that it comes just even with the apples before baking. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until apples are soft, approximately one hour and 10 minutes. Cover cake the last 15 minutes to puff the apples. Cut in 15 portions and serve warm with whipped cream or hard sauce.

Apple Cheese Cobbler (6 to 8 servings)

Four cups peeled and sliced apples, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 6 to 8 slices cheese, 1/3 cup shortening, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 3 tablespoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk.

Combine apples, sugar and cinnamon and arrange evenly over the bottom of an 8x8x2-inch baking dish. Cover with slices of cheese. Top with a drop biscuit dough made by cutting shortening into flour which has been combined with baking powder and salt. When mixture is of a coarse cornmeal-like texture, add all of milk and stir until moisture is evenly distributed. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 35 to 45 minutes, or until crust is brown and biscuit topping is baked. Serve with cream while still warm.

Lamneck said contracts already have been let for construction of 24 physicians units at various institutions and that bids are being received for four other physicians residence units at the Cleveland and Hawthornden State hospitals.

The director said completion of these physicians residences would materially assist in obtaining medical personnel at the state hospitals. In the past, he said, physicians have been reluctant to enter such serve because of lack of adequate housing facilities.

JUNGLE INN CASE TO BE UP THURSDAY

WARREN, Sept. 24—(AP)—A claim that John Farah of the Jungle Inn threatened Anthony J. Rutkowski, state liquor enforcement chief, will come before the county grand jury next Thursday.

Rutkowski, who makes the claim, has been summoned to testify. He said after liquor agents raided the Inn last month that Farah shouted to a guard to kill him.

The grand jury also will hear testimony from Oscar L. Fleckner, director of the state liquor department; Charles Marks, chief of the department's Cleveland enforcement district, and six liquor agents.

Farah, one of the operators of the Inn, was among 20 men arrested during the raid. All pleaded guilty to gambling offenses and paid fines totalling $4,100. Farah's fine was $1,000. About $35,000 worth of gambling equipment was seized, including 100 slot machines.

Gen. George Marshall To Be Red Cross Head

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — General George C. Marshall is coming back to public life again, as chairman of the American Red Cross.

President Truman, one of the general's greatest admirers, told his news conference yesterday that Marshall has agreed to succeed Basil O'Connor as Red Cross chairman on October 1. The job carries no salary.

Marshall has been in retirement since the first of the year, after undergoing the removal of a kidney. Friends say he has been in good health for the last several months. He'll be 69 Dec. 31.

U.S. A-Bomb Monopoly Gone, But Is Far Ahead

By JOHN M. HITOWER
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — (AP)—The United States has lost its monopoly on atomic weapons but is still four years and many accomplishments ahead of the Russians.

Those are the stand-out facts, in estimates by the best informed government officials of the impact from Russia's atomic explosion on the balance of power between Russia and the United States.

State department officials generally took the line they did not believe the danger of war is either increased or decreased by the evidence that Russia has made at least one atomic bomb.

Russia May Cooperate
Some diplomats, in fact, speculated that Russia, having ended much of the disparity between itself and the United States, might now possibly be more ready to make a serious effort to establish a workable plan of international atomic energy control.

In any case, officials said, President Truman's announcement of the Soviet atomic explosion does not foreshadow any change in American atomic policy or general foreign policy.

On the contrary, it was said, American policy has been worked out on the assumption that the Soviets would get the bomb sooner or later. It appears that the explosion took place somewhat sooner than the American experts had figured but possibly not a great deal.

Speculate On Release
Why President Truman chose to announce it at this time was one of the subjects on which authorities would only speculate.

It was possible that he wanted to be the first to break the news and did not want to risk an announcement by Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky at the United Nations.

Another point on which responsible informants would offer no comment was how the United States obtained possession of the evidence of the atomic explosion. The president's top advisors, it was learned, however, consider the evidence conclusive.

At a minimum it shows that Russia had manufactured a quantity of atomic material sufficient to create a considerable explosion and that the Soviets therefore know how to make the materials.

At a maximum, it indicates that the Soviets have manufactured an atomic bomb capable of being hauled about and dropped on a target and that they deliberately set it off for test purposes.

The experts reason that it is unlikely that the Russians have accumulated a stockpile of atomic material or that they made much more than one bomb. For this reason considerable emphasis was given here to the progress which has already been chalked up in atomic research and manufacture in the United States.

The Russians are believed to have been helped very greatly in their atomic manufacture by German scientists. They took large numbers of Germans to Russia after the war.

The Germans are believed to have contributed the mechanical and engineering skill which the Russians needed to combine with their own basic knowledge of atomic theory.

Senator Attacks Charity Trusts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) has proposed a change in tax laws to keep charitable trusts from owning newspapers or radio stations. Tobey introduced an amendment to the internal revenue code yesterday to tax the gross revenue of charitable trusts if any of their funds are used to control an information enterprise.

He called his amendment a move to safeguard freedom of speech and press.

He said the reconstruction finance corporation "has followed an excellent rule that it will not exercise its lending powers when the press or a radio broadcasting station is involved."

"The rule is presumably based upon a sincere desire that a government agency be placed above suspicion of control of the avenues of information."

Tobey said he felt the same policy should apply to the internal revenue commissioner "who has broad authority in the approval or disapproval of the activities of charitable trusts through his power to hold the trust income taxable or exempt. Furthermore, charitable trusts controlling millions of dollars have been engaged in all types of activities in competition with tax-paying private enterprises under loosely drawn state laws pertaining to the powers of trustees."

PTA Speaker Announced
LISBON, Sept. 24—E. L. Hoon of Columbus, field service director of the Ohio Education association, will address the Lisbon P. T. A. at its regular meeting in the High school Monday evening.

RED ATOM CHIEF?—President Truman's disclosure of a recent atomic explosion "somewhere in Russia" has indicated that Soviet scientists under Marshal Lavrenti Beria, above, have succeeded in duplicating our atomic bomb. Beria is also known for his activities as a Politburo member and as head of the Russian secret police.

Mrs. Clyde M. Tschantz, president announced.

The program of the evening will include special music, and a reception for Supt. and Mrs. V. J. Upton and family and all new teachers in the schools.

Russian Explosion To Speed Air Plan

By JAMES J. STREBIG
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — (AP)—President Truman's disclosure that Russia may have an atom bomb appears likely to speed up air defense planning without changing its direction.

This country's military leaders have long based their thinking on the possibility of Russia having atom bomb. They gave 1952 as the date the bomb probably would be ready for military use by a foreign power.

Friday's announcement indicates Russia may be well ahead of the estimated schedule. Among defense officials, especially air specialists, this news is considered likely to hasten the development of these phases of atomic air warfare planning:

1. The United States must push its interceptor fighter program. It now has no real interceptor in production, although one type at least is in flight test stage.

2. It must push the program for a radar detection screen. This program is barely underway in connection with the billion-dollar 15-year plan for an electric airways and air traffic control system, now scheduled for completion in 1963.

3. It must push development of ground-to-air interceptor missiles to be used in defense against enemy bombers and missiles. A large controlled missile program has been under way for several years. Every aircraft manufacture is working on it.

4. Intelligence efforts to determine possible enemy progress on aircraft and missiles able to deliver an atom bomb, and on development of launching bases, must be stepped up.

5. It may be necessary to tighten control of international aircraft crossing the nation's border.

Cleland Makes Small Profit On Plane Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24—(AP)—A profit of only $1,100 was realized by Cook Cleland on the $27,350 which his two racing planes won in the National Air races this year.

The pilot made this statement Thursday night in a talk before the Cleveland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Cleland won the Thompson trophy race on Labor Day. His other plane, piloted by Benjamin W. McKillen, won the Tinnerman trophy race and was third in the Thompson. McKillen is associated with Cleland in the operation of an airport at suburban Willoughby.

The heavy cost of owning and operating a high-speed plane was given as the cause of the low profit. He said that in 1947, when he won the Thompson for the first time, he had a deficit of $100. That year, two of his planes finished and a third crashed.

Cleland said he would go to Washington Friday to urge continuance of the Thompson race. A hearing there is to determine whether closed course racing is too dangerous at the National Air races at Cleveland airport.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSING

Sidelights on Friday's football... Thrills were plentiful at Reilly stadium last night, football and otherwise... The 4,002 fans Fred Cope said were there saw one of the finest, most cleverly arranged band shows seen here in years.

The Salem musicians, who are led by one of the best, most well-rehearsed majorette units in years, turned out a "Sports Calendar" halftime affair that featured sailing, hunting, skating, racing and appropriate music with each display... "The Old Gray Mare", "Sailing, Sailing", "Hunting We Shall Go" and other numbers kept the mood with the scenes...

Sevens' band stole the show for youngest participants... A pair of cute six-year old little ladies pranced down the field with a crowd-appeal hard to beat... The Raven band centered its show about the farm, using "Old McDonald Had A Farm," a square dance and winding it up with a clever jitterbug arrangement... Both periods were original and refreshing and the crowd seemed appreciative to an unusual extent.

Bobby Theiss continued his rate of one spectacular pass receipt per game last night, taking Callahan's beautiful loss for a good 33-yards in the fourth... Theiss stumbled as he made the catch and bobbed the ball all the way to the ground... But he got it—and good... Callahan, accidentally, now has 18 completions in 32 attempts in two games... His yards via air total 208... Not bad at all, folks.

Harry Gilcrest, Raven coach, told Ben Barrett after the game that his Ravens had whipped Akron South easily in a regulation scrimmage game early this week... South whipped Mansfield in its opener last week... Gilcrest, he doesn't mind admitting, felt that this was to be a good year for his charges... He says he told them early in practices they should go unbeaten.

Salem didn't look like champions a whole game, but in that first half they would have been hard to out-do... A whole game like that first half would rank them at the top... Ravenna's cheering section never gave up... With the score 19-0 in Salem's favor, the Raven noise-makers gave their squad a tremendous ovation as it came back on the field... Ben Barrett, you may note, wasn't happy about the last half... He remarked after the game, "I hope we don't have any more like that one. I knew 19 points was none too many against a 'Gilcrest team'... The two men who met after the game and their remarks to each other would have made an uninformed person confused about who won the game.

In the Salem dressing room the Quakers added a note of good cheer to the evening by joining in a boisterous "Happy Birthday" song to Mark Miller, diligent—but yet young manager... Mark took it gracefully...

Leetonia's Bears were buried under an onslaught of Boardman touchdowns Friday night at Boardman, losing their second consecutive grid tilt 47-0... Boardman's 360-pound full-back, Bob Vogt, continued his scoring spree, racking up three T.D.'s and five placements. Last week against Minerva, he tallied four touchdowns and added five placements. All his scores last night came from beyond the 30-yard line.

The winners had 427 yards gained to Leetonia's 318. The Bears completed four of 14 passes, but muffed their only scoring chance when two passes were grounded in the end zone as they tried to score from Boardman's four-yard line.

Clem Tottora, the Bears' excellent punter, averaged 41 yard an six attempts Friday... Leetonia... 0 0 0 0 0... Boardman... 20 7 13 7-47... Scoring: Boardman—Bob Vogt (3), Jay Chuck (2), Ed Fiffick, Chuck LaSalle... Extra points—Vogt (5) by placement.

Callahan Clicks 9 of 11 Passes; Visitors Scare Locals With Late Rally

By BOB DIXON

Ben Barrett's impressive Quakers, who are beginning to look like a first half ball club, fought their way to a five-point victory over a tricky Ravenna High eleven at Reilly stadium Friday by a 19-14 count.

A crowd of 4,002 fans sat in on an exciting game, that started out looking like a one-sided affair, but had the local followers on the edge of their seats before the final whistle.

Salem's victory brought them up to a 500 percentage mark on the season, after last week's defeat by New Philadelphia.

The Quakers were led last night by their captain, George Reash, the reformed quarterback, who scored all three touchdowns from his left half spot. Shining again with his almost perfect passing was Junior Jimmy Callahan, the signal caller.

Salem thrilled the home crowd by driving for all three of their scores in the first half to pile up a commanding lead. It was commanding, too, until the last two minutes of the game found the Ravens only five points back and playing as though they had been "hopped up" with benzadrine at halftime.

The visitors, coached by happy-go-lucky Harry Gilcrest, roared up from far back and scored two quickies in the final frame to make a game of it. They took full advantage of a second half letdown by the Red and Black.

Ravenna had control of the ball throughout the last half, with Salem losing a couple of chances on inopportune fumbles. Once the Quakers saw they were in danger, however, they turned on the heat to control the ball in the waning moments of the tilt.

Callahan's passing show was even more impressive than last week's. He fired 11 passes and all 11 were perfect strikes. Nine were completed for 88 yards, one was dropped and the receiver was completely covered on the other. "Icewater" Jim simply stood behind good protection and unerringly picked out his man and hit him.

However, the entire Salem backfield improved this week. Bobby Theiss, Joe Nocera, Bruce Fredericks and Jim Ference turned in almost duplicate running performances. Fredericks picked up 39 yards and Ference 30, the rest falling in between.

The lion's share of the ground gaining was done by Reash. The Senior half coolly picked his holes and drove hard for a total of 77 yards. He reeled off two gains of 15 and 16 yards and was on the receiving end of several passes.

Ravenna presented a trio of fast, quick ball carriers in Rock, Loftin and Miniscalco. They were fairly well bottled up by the Salem line during the first half, but cut loose for some big yardage, as the Ravens drove back into the game late in the tilt.

The visitors, with Quarterback Blank throwing, completed only four passes, but made them good for 97 yards.

Barrett was pleased with the team's offense, especially during the first part of the game. He pointed out that lack of possession and fumbles hurt their scoring chances in the last half.

The coach complained that the team let down after the half, although he had warned them that Ravenna would come back.

The Scoring After kicking off and holding Ravenna on downs, Salem took Miniscalco's punt back to their own 26. From there it took exactly 10 plays to score.

Callahan opened the offensive with an 11-yard heave to England, Reash picked up one, Nocera four and Fredericks five. Fredericks came back for 10 more on an end run for the third first down. Following a Ravenna penalty for delaying the game, Fredericks added two yards and Reash picked up nine down the middle.

After Nocera plowed for nine yards, Fredericks ripped off 12 on a quick opener to put the ball on the four yard line. Reash went off right tackle on the next play and reached pay dirt. Lige

Clippers Trowned 47 To 0

Louisville Re-emphasizes Its Bid For Tri-County Title Of 1949

The Clippers of Columbiana will tell you today that Louisville's Rider outfit is a good bet to cop the 1949 Tri-County league title once again.

For Columbiana dropped a 41-0 game at Clippertown last night and did it the hard way, for the Clippers are no slouch ball club.

Jimmy Hall's machine just couldn't function against Louisville's power, although George Fisher and Bobby Barnes did chalk off a few fine runs.

Louisville tallied on runs of one, two, eight, four and five yards, ending long drives in each case. One pass play, J. Mooth to Thomas, resulted in a 30-yard score.

Seaglione was the only Raider to score twice, but J. Gulling, Thomas, Duplain and Mooth joined the ranks with one TD each.

Thomas converted four kicks and Stephan made one more good for the extra points.

Louisville opened with seven in the first period, 14 in the second, seven in the third and 13 in the fourth.

Columbiana now sports a 1-1 record, having won over Poland last week. Louisville needless to mention, has gone unbeaten in two.

In the Quaker line, it appeared that three men stood out last night. Don Loutzenhiser, Jay England and Fritz Roth all looked good on defense and England made several fancy snatches on pass plays.

The linebackers were not up to par, however, and will have to improve their work, according to Barrett. Lack of experience on defense will correct itself as the season goes along, and should be apparent with several players.

Barrett was high on the play of Bobby Theiss after the game and is toying with the idea of moving Reash to the fullback spot when Alexander returns, to allow Theiss to remain at the right half post.

CZECHS MAY SEND CHURCH UNDERGROUND

Revolt Looms If Reds Fail To Recognize Clergy

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 24.—(UP)—The Roman Catholic church has laid plans to send its clergy underground if necessary to continue the fight against the Czech Communist government's attempts to dominate the church, a high church prelate disclosed Thursday.

The prelate, who would not allow his name to be used for fear of possible government reprisal, said priests who are dismissed from church offices "for political reasons" will "continue to work, even illegally," supported by money from their congregations.

He said the church expected the next few months to be crucial in the church-state war, with the government continuing to crack down on the clergy and continuing to lay the groundwork for a new law by which it hopes to gain control of the church.

In a message smuggled to the western press in reply to a questionnaire, the prelate made these points:

1. The church will accept some provisions of the forthcoming church bill turning priests into civil servants. But it will not accept any provisions which are contrary to its "conscience."
  2. The church expects the government to attempt to enforce the complete bill as drafted without considering the "wishes of the priests."
  3. Some priests, influenced by the promise of higher salaries, will accept the bill, the majority will not.
  4. Archbishop Josef Beran, the No. 1 church foe of the government is in good health but under constant government surveillance. The archbishop can leave his place but does not because of fears he might set off demonstrations.
  5. Thus far there have been no signs that police have extended their surveillance of Czech priests to the confessional box, as a recent Communist order indicated the government intended to do.
- Commenting on the new church bill, the prelate said:
- "We do not yet know how it will work out. We fear the next few months. If parliament passes the new church law, then it will be enforced by the state without regard to the wishes of the priests. If the state demands a thing that is not contrary to our consciences, we will carry it out."

The church official said the proposed church law would require priests to work eight hours and vicars six hours a week in schools without pay.

Camden Murderer Indicted By Jury

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 24.—Howard B. Unruh was indicted Thursday for the mass slaying of 13 persons in a 20-minute shooting orgy on River road Sept. 6.

Sixteen bills of indictment were returned by the Camden county grand jury—13 for the persons slain and one each for the three victims wounded by the ex-artilleryman.

Sixty witnesses were on hand to describe Unruh's brief reign of terror but the grand jury summoned only six and then dismissed two of those.

Further action on the indictment will depend upon the results of mental tests being made on Unruh at the New Jersey State hospital in Trenton. If he is declared sane, the indictments will be pressed and he will be tried for murder. If judged insane, he may be committed for life.

Ohio Sailor Waits Naval Questioning In Hotel Murder

GROTON, Conn., Sept. 24.—(AP)—A gangling, boyish sailor Thursday awaited his release by the navy for questioning in the New York hotel room slaying of Arthur T. Costigan, 50, Pawtucket, R. I., undertaker.

Two warrants—one charging him with homicide, the other with being a fugitive from justice—were served late Wednesday on Frank L. Rush, 19, of Steubenville, Ohio, at the submarine base here.

State Police Lieut. William T. McKenzie said Rush would be presented in Groton town court on the fugitive warrant as soon as he is released on orders of the Secretary of the Navy.

Attorney Morris Lubchansky, retained by members of the Rush family, said he was waiting instructions on whether his client would waive extradition.

Submarine base officials quoted Rush as saying he told of shooting Costigan because he was "conscience stricken." Costigan's nude body with three bullet wounds in the head was found in the hotel room yesterday.

Lubchansky disclosed what he said was Rush's version of the events leading up to Costigan's death:

Rush, returning from furlough, had hitch hiked from Pittsburgh to New York City arriving too late to make a New London bus. At the terminal he met Costigan.

After the pair had talked for a while Costigan took Rush to eat and then to see a movie after which he registered the sailor at his hotel as his nephew.

The pair were in the hotel room for a considerable time before the shooting occurred, but Rush had "no clear recollection" of time.

The pistol Rush surrendered to his superiors was the property of one of Rush's brothers from whom he borrowed it for protection from attack while hitch hiking.

NLRB Election Due At Warren

WARREN, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The CIO United Electrical Workers striking the Taylor-Winfield Corp. plant have agreed through their local president to ask a National Labor Relations board election to decide the plant bargaining agent.

But here are the four points Frank Motter, Local 750 head, said yesterday must be conceded by the firm before the recommendation is made by a strike committee:

1. Rehiring of 30 workers, fired by T-W since the strike June 2.
  2. Restoration of the former company-union work agreement.
  3. Agreement to negotiate on wages and other contract benefits.
  4. Consent to the election.
- The company which makes welding equipment, has refused to recognize the CIO-U.E.W. local as bargaining agent.
- A new outbreak of violence came yesterday when two stench bombs were hurled through plant windows. Several weeks earlier, police reported smashed windows, sealed doors and nail-strewn driveways at the plant.
- The 154 production workers on strike have asked an eight-cent hourly wage increase, a 30-hour week with 40-hour pay and a pension plan. There is no estimate of their average wage because they are paid on a sliding scale.

Suspend Grill

CLEVELAND, Sept. 24.—The state liquor control board ordered a 45-day suspension of a Lorain grill's liquor permit yesterday. John B. and Ralph G. Standen, operating the Silver Fox Grill, drew the suspension for having refilled bottles.

FICHTER SEEMS TO HAVE RIDDEN OUT GRANGE STORM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Ohio State Grange Master Joseph W. Fichter appeared today to have ridden out the storm which broke against his administration by Licking county, O., grangers.

The executive committee of the National Grange announced last night that a basis for settlement had been reached after a hearing of the charges against Fichter.

The committee said in a formal statement:

"There is every reason to believe that settlements will be reached and the charges withdrawn."

The Fichter hearing was held here on the basis of 50 accusations filed against Fichter by Wade Moreland of Granville, O. The nature of the charges was not disclosed, but an official grange spokesman said they demanded Fichter's removal from office.

No Public Statement

Both Moreland and Fichter announced at the close of the hearing that nothing they could say now could contribute to the chances of settling their differences and, therefore, there would be no public announcement of the charges.

One grange spokesman said Fichter and Moreland were brought face to face before the executive committee shortly before the statement was issued. Another grange source, who asked not to be identified, said the men did not meet before the committee.

The hearing started Tuesday night at an unannounced meeting of the executive committee at which Moreland testified. Moreland was accompanied by his attorney, E. Clark Morrow, of Newark, O.

Fichter and Mrs. Fichter appeared before the committee yesterday. While no charges were preferred by Moreland against Mrs. Fichter, as the wife of the state grange master she has a high position in the organization's councils and was entitled to participate, the committee said.

It was the executive committee's role in the hearing to determine whether there was enough substance to Moreland's charges to warrant trial of Fichter before the next National Grange convention, Nov. 16-25 at Sacramento, Calif.

Only once in the history of the grange, about 25 years ago, has a state master been deposed by a national convention, a spokesman said.

Murder Suspect To Get Hearing

DAYTON, Sept. 24 — (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Robert U. Martin Friday bound Thomas J. Conlin, 59, of Berkeley, Calif., to a grand jury without bond in the slaying of a Dayton industrialist.

Conlin is held in the fatal shooting of his former employer, Harold E. McCrery, 54, president of the Master Vibrator Co., of Dayton. McCrery died yesterday of a bullet wound in the abdomen.

The grand jury is expected to consider the case in about two weeks.

Prosecutor Mathias Heck said the shooting followed Conlin's request for money from McCrery to get back to California. The men married sisters.

Conlin refused the aid of an attorney but Irvin Delscamp, a lawyer, spoke for him in court. Delscamp said Conlin had not hired him. The attorney said he acted to "aid the court and prevent Conlin from pleading guilty."

Conlin gave the court this explanation for not wanting counsel:

"I don't have any money and I don't see any need for one. I don't see that I'm going to get out of anything or how I'm going to save myself by having one."

Before the hearing, Conlin told newsmen he had not heard from his wife in California. He said: "I couldn't go back to my family. They'd all be against me. They'd think I was crazy. I must have been crazy."

Conlin said he told his wife he was going to Los Angeles but instead came to Dayton.

Lowell Thomas Injured Seriously In Tibet

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—Lowell Thomas, 57, author, newscaster and traveler, was seriously injured when thrown from a horse on a steep mountain pass in the Himalayas, his office said Friday.

The extent of his injuries could not be immediately learned but his office said the Army Airforce had been asked to rescue him from the tiny mountain village of Gyantse.

Thomas recently left Tibet with a message from the Dalai Lama to President Truman. His son, Lowell, Jr., 25, was with him at the time of the mishap.

NEARING END OF JOURNEY—Mrs. Julia Roka St. Clair pushes her 7-year-old son, Dolphy, through Monroe, Mich., in a wheelbarrow on the last leg of their journey from Jacksonville, Fla., to Detroit. The 1400-mile trip has taken three months, during which time the pair turned down an estimated 2000 rides. Mrs. St. Clair is taking her son, who is crippled, to see his grandmother in Detroit.

Leading U.S. Businessman Makes Comments On U.N.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Any foreign people, no matter how their government differs from ours, should be given a chance to study American techniques for conserving and using industrial resources.

That is the belief of Clarence Francis, board chairman of General Foods Corp. and an outstanding United Nations supporter among business leaders. He headed the American Citizens committee of the recent UN conference at Lake Success on the conservation and use of world resources.

Some 535 scientists from 49 countries took part in the meeting. The committee's job was to put them into personal contact with American industrialists and conservation specialists with whom they might exchange information.

"We all live in the world together," said Francis. "If the United States helps the United Nations broaden out the productive and conservation thinking of the world, everybody's standard of living will go up."

Use Only Facts
"But we should avoid propaganda and use only facts. Our committee tried to help the scientists get a real picture of how our private enterprise system works. The visitors asked the questions and did the looking. What they learned must cause them to question much hostile propaganda against free enterprise."

Francis added that American businessmen who were in contact with foreigners recognized the importance of listening to their visitors, too.

"I am convinced that our business leaders must be willing to work together with other countries despite their fear of other types of government, if the international standard of living and security is to be improved," he said.

The citizens committee arranged for small groups of visiting scientists to tour plants and other installations that would add to their understanding of American methods.

Francis said many of the foreigners voiced surprise at the frankness with which our technicians and executives answered questions.

"Anything we've got to show is yours to see," the visitors were told by Thomas J. Watson, president of International Business Machines, in a typical comment.

Francis, who was chairman of United Nations Week in October, 1948, said he undertook to lead the citizens committee at the behest of Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug. The group had many well known industrialists and conservation experts in its membership. Its most notable representative was former President Herbert Hoover.

"I think the committee has shown in its limited way how American industry by sharing its know-how of conservation and utilization techniques can do something to help stabilize an alarmingly unstable world," Francis declared.

Liquor Agents Make 57 Raids

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24—(UP)—Enforcement inspectors of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control made 57 raids during August, most of them resulting in arrests for illegal possession of whisky or bootlegging, Enforcement Chief Anthony A. Rutkowski reported Friday.

Fines levied against the 69 persons convicted in August, some of whom were arrested in July, totalled 11,900 and sentences of 180 days were imposed, Rutkowski said. Department officials made 9,946 inspections of permit holders' premises.

Four stills were confiscated, three of them in the Portsmouth district.

Activities of the enforcement division for August included, by districts:

Toledo—10 raids, 10 arrests, 11 convictions, $1,650 in fines, sentences of 30 days imposed.

Sandusky—3 raids, 7 arrests, 3 convictions, $300 in fines.

Cleveland—10 raids, 14 arrests, 9 convictions, $845 in fines, sentences of 30 days.

Columbus—2 raids, 2 arrests, 1 conviction, $150 in fines.

Canton—5 raids, 6 arrests, 6 convictions, $1,180 in fines.

Cincinnati—7 raids, 9 arrests, no convictions.

Portsmouth—12 raids, 13 arrests, 9 convictions, $1,225 in fines.

Dayton—4 raids, 4 arrests, 3 convictions, $1,700 in fines, sentences of 120 days.

Akron—2 raids, 3 arrests, 7 convictions, $800 in fines.

Raids made from the central office in Columbus on the Mounds club in Lake county and the Jungle Inn in Trumbull county resulted in 24 arrests, 20 convictions and $4,100 in fines.

INSTITUTE MAKES CHEMICAL POLISH

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24—(AP)—Battelle Institute came up Friday with a chemical that polishes metal in one brief dip.

The research center said any metal product, no matter how intricately carved or designed, will achieve a mirror-like lustre a few minutes after being immersed in the chemical.

"In practice," said Battelle, "it has been found that chemical polishing may eliminate from one to four or five production steps in the finishing of a metallic product."

"This means a reduction in finishing costs as great as 50 per cent."

Metals successfully chemically polished include brass, copper, nickel-silver, monel, nickel and aluminum. The action is a true polishing process—not a deposited coating of a different metal.

Used by a luggage lock manufacturer, the process saved five buffing operations in finishing locks and hasps—a savings of $65 for each 1000 locks and hasps.

Chemical polishing baths are mixtures of acids, including phosphoric, nitric and acetic acids. They operate at from room temperature to 200 degrees Fahrenheit.
